

February 17, 2023

Dear Metabolic Community,

Nutricia is pleased to share that we have resumed the regular production of several of our PhenylAde products for PKU that were impacted by last year’s ingredient shortage. We understand that any interruption in formula supply is difficult, and we truly appreciate your support and patience.

We are committed to providing you with supply updates when products are in stock and ready to ship from our warehouse. Once available, we don’t anticipate future stock interruptions and have implemented a plan of action to help avoid supply disruptions. To support your purchase planning, the table below outlines our expected dates when products will be available again from our warehouse. Please allow extra time for shipments to reach your supplier.

Expected Availability of Impacted PhenylAde Products in the U.S.:
